UNH Law made a significant climb up the list of Top 100 law schools in the rankings released last month by U.S. News & World Report, rising 15 positions to reach No. 85. The school also was again ranked at No. 6 for the study of intellectual property law, an area of legal specialty that the school has been pioneering since its founding roughly four decades ago. UNH Law has been ranked in the top 10 for intellectual property (IP) nationwide every year since U.S. News & World Report began ranking IP programs 27 years ago. STUDENTS REACH NATIONAL FINALS OF NATIONAL TRIAL COMPETITION
The team of UNH Law students Allie Pash and Kolbie McCabe advanced to the national finals of the National Trial Competition, to be held in Austin, Texas in April, after defeating Maine in the regional final of the competition during the weekend of Feb. 10. The UNH Law team of Kelly Karnan and Addison Spriggs also took part in the competition, earning a victory in one of three preliminary rounds and losing two others on very close ballots. The National Trial Competition is the largest mootcourt or trial competition for law schools in the country, with more than 200 schools participating. The Boston region included teams from Harvard, Yale, UConn, BU, BC, Northeastern, Maine, Vermont, Suffolk, and others. For more on the UNH Law victory, click here.

UNH LAW PROVIDES BOOST TO WORK FORCE, IMPROVES ACCESS TO JUSTICE IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

UNH Law is making a positive impact on the state’s economy in two significant respects – by attracting and retaining young professionals who establish careers and raise families in the state, and by improving access to justice through its substantial volunteer legal work for citizens, state agencies, non-profits, and the courts. The school continues to attract and retain young professionals who establish careers in New Hampshire – in the last three years, UNH Law has taken in 29 percent of its student body from New Hampshire, while roughly 46 percent of all graduates have secured post-graduate employment in the state. In 2016, that number was 57 percent. To read more, click here.

STUDENTS WIN BEST ORAL ARGUMENT AT SAUL LEFKOWITZ MOOT COURT COMPETITION

Meredith Farrell, Scott Amankwatia, and Amanda Abelmann at the Saul Lefkowitz Moot Court Competition.

UNH Law students Meredith Farrell and Scott Amankwatia won best oral argument in their competition at the Saul Lefkowitz Moot Court Competition for Trademarks and Unfair Competition on Feb. 10. Farrell and Amankwatia argued at the United States District Court for the Eastern District of New York in Brooklyn, NY for both the appellant and appellee. Their prompt consisted of complex trademark issues including acquiescence, acquired distinctiveness, and likelihood of confusion. Both students received overwhelmingly positive feedback for both of their arguments, which were in front of top trademark attorneys. The oral argument portion of the competition came after Farrell and Amankwatia spent much of their fall semester and the entirety of their winter break writing a 30-plus page brief. UNH Law professors Alexandra Roberts and Ryan Vacca were instrumental in preparing Farrell and Amankwatia for the competition, as was Moot Court Coordinator Deb Paige.

UNH Law and the Warren B. Rudman Center honored John Dickerson, host of Face the Nation on CBS News, with the David Broder Award at a ceremony held Dec. 5. Dan Balz, Chief Correspondent at the Washington Post — and the inaugural recipient of the David Broder Award in 2015 — presented the award and joined Dickerson and former New Hampshire Attorney General Tom Rath for a panel discussion following Dickerson's remarks. The David Broder Award is presented biennially by the University of New Hampshire’s Warren B. Rudman Center for Justice, Leadership, and Public Service to a journalist whose career exemplifies the work of David Broder and reflects Senator Rudman’s lifelong commitment to public service, democracy, and dialogue.
SAVE THE DATE UPDATE: ALL-CLASS REUNION TO BE HELD SEPTEMBER 14-15, 2018

Former Dean Robert Viles with graduates at the annual alumni cocktail gathering.

UNH Law is excited to announce the return to annual fall reunions, beginning with an all-class reunion to be held September 14-15, 2018. We would love to see all of our grads. On Sept.14 we'll have a Dean’s cocktail party. On Saturday we will be giving tours, and have some law related programs, and at night we'll host an informal child-friendly dinner at the school. We'll designate dining spaces throughout the building(s) for the reunion classes. Since it has been a while since we have had organized reunions we hope that all will come, and we are looking for volunteers to help encourage their classmates to attend. We are especially looking for grads from the traditional celebration years: 1984 (35 years); 1988 (30 years); 1993 (25 years); 1998 (20 Years); 2003 (15 years); 2008 (10 years); 2013 (5 years). If you would like to help, please contact Casey LaPlante at casey.laplante@unh.edu.

HERSTOFF EARNS VICTORY IN THE SUPREME COURT

Jonathan Herstoff

Jonathan Herstoff (JD/LLM ’10) of Haug Partners earned a victory after arguing his first case before the U.S. Supreme Court in October 2017. The court unanimously agreed with Herstoff’s position in Hamer v. Neighborhood Housing Services of Chicago et al. “It was extremely exciting for me and my family. It was humbling to get a decision like that, and a unanimous one, in my favor,” Herstoff said. Read the complete story here.

ALUMNI PARTICIPATION HIGHLIGHTS ANNUAL MOCK INTERVIEW ROUND ROBIN EVENT
UNH Law held its annual Mock Interview Round Robin on Feb. 6, hosting 33 alumni among 48 practitioners who coached law students through interview skills in a speed-networking format. The event was coordinated by the UNH Law Career Services team. The event provides students an outstanding opportunity to network with future colleagues and polish their interview skills, and the results are apparent – one of our 1L’s landed a summer internship at the New Hampshire Attorney General’s office as a result of the event. Alumni who participated include Cooley Arroyo, Jared Bedrick, Heather Burns, Matthew Burrows, Tenley Callaghan, Rebecca Christon, Richard Fradette, Frank Fredericks, Chase Hagaman, Meaghan Jepsen, Paul Kroon, Ross Krutzinger, Gordon Landrigan, Adrian LaRochelle, Janelle Laylagian, Caroline Leonard, Aaron Mitchell, Christopher Paul, Bob Puckhaber, Joe Rheaume, Kirk Simoneau, Casey Stanton, Michael Strauss, Jennifer Uhouse, Christina Wilson, Ronna Wise, Zachary Wolf, Catherine Yao, Jane Young, Joe Young, Laurie Young, Abby Zeller, and James Ziegra.

SCOTT MURRAY CONFIRMED AS UNITED STATES ATTORNEY FOR NEW HAMPSHIRE

UNH Law alum and Merrimack County Attorney Scott Murray was confirmed as the next U.S. Attorney for New Hampshire by the U.S. Senate in February. He had been nominated by President Donald Trump in November. Murray was serving his fourth term as Merrimack County’s head attorney, according to an NHPR story, and was previously Concord’s top prosecutor for almost 20 years. The same NHPR story notes that Murray “was recommended for the U.S. Attorney job by Governor Chris Sununu, who praised the announcement.”
